

ALLIES SMASH WIDE GAP INTO FORTIFIED LINE EXTENDING FROM TYRRHENIAN SEA COAST TO CASSINO

Crushing of Gustav Line Enables Eighth Army Forces
To Penetrate Deep Into the Liri Valley —
Heavy Fighting Is Expected

By James L. Kilgallen

I. N. S. Staff Correspondent
NAPLES, May 15—(INS)—Allied armies in Italy today breached the formidable Nazi "Gustav" defense
line.

The Allies smashed a wide gap into the fortified line extending
from the Tyrrhenian sea coast northeastward to Cassino after some 72 hours of the heaviest offensive onslaughts in the Italian campaign.

The crushing of the Gustav line
enabled the Eighth Army Forces, which crossed the Rapido River on a wide front and slashed at the Germans with mechanized formations, to penetrate deep into the Liri Valley.

Heavy fighting was expected to flare in the Liri Valley when the Germans attempt to stem the Allied onslaught in an effort to gain time for the main Nazi forces to solidify
themselves in the Adolf Hitler line to the rear of the broken Gustav defenses.

Whether the troops of Nazi field marshal Albert Kesselring can bring up hurried reinforcements
into the Liri Valley was problematical in view of crippling Allied aerial blows against enemy communications, including the smashing of the Avio river viaduct over which traffic through the Brenner
Pass must move.

The swift breaching of the Gustav line attested to the formidable preparations undertaken by the

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

Another Warning

WASHINGTON, May 13.—
CERTAINLY Mr.
Roosevelt did not
enhance his reputation for candor
and accuracy at
his first press conference following
his return from the South by his statements concerning the Montgomery Ward seizure. It was a singular performance, which left
most of those who listened amazed at the line he chose to take. Only the fact that it is not possible to contradict or argue with the President at these conferences kept them quiet. But it wasn't acquiescence, it was restraint.

NO ONE can blame the President
for wanting to escape the consequences of the mistakes made in his name by Attorney General Biddle, but the method he adopted,

though used before, hardly would commend itself to fairly-minded men.
First, he charged the press and radio had not given the people the facts, though he was unable to point out any fact that had not
been given, or to give any fact,
himself, that had not already been printed. Nevertheless, he then blithely proceeded to supply the press with information about the case that almost immediately turned out to be incorrect. For example, he declared the case had
been settled by the results of the employees' election.

THIS WAS far from the fact and
was at once denied by the company, which asserted it will not accept a contract containing the
closed-shop clause which the union is demanding. And it was also denied by members of Congress, which each branch had ordered,
would be continued. Actually, the speed and emphasis with which House and Senate decided upon

BUCKS COUNTY MAN GOES TO PAL'S AID

Cpl. Richard Magill Sees
Man Completely Buried
By Concussion

JOBS ARE HAZARDOUS

MECHANICSVILLE, May 15—
When the soldiers on the battle front think that they have been there long enough, they do not hesitate to say so to every one within hearing, according to Cpl. Richard Magill, Army Armored Command,
who recently returned to this country after 23 months of active service in Africa and Italy.

Cpl. Magill has been assigned to Fort Knox, Ky., where he probably will be detailed as an instructor of half-track and tank manipulation.

During the attack and the establishment of the Anzio beachhead,
from which he came almost directly
to this country, as well as in the Tunisia campaign, Cpl. Magill was driving a half-track equipped with its usual anti-aircraft gun and a number of "personnel" guns, these latter being intended for use against foot or horse-mounted enemy. Incidentally, according to Cpl. Magill, a half-track is a combination of an armored truck, a light tank, an artillery field-piece
and a battery of machine guns.

It was while driving his half-track that he was injured.

Bensalem's Early Birds

(By "The Stroller")
Three Andalusian men and two from Cornwall Heights had an "outing" yesterday.

It was an early outing, particularly for a Sunday morning.

It appears that one of the quintet had been informed on
"good authority" (it was later learned that he secured his information from barber shop
conversation), that the railroad bridge which crosses Grant
avenue, in Philadelphia county,
was to be replaced — the old bridge to be removed and a new one already built to be pushed
in place — at the hour of five yesterday morning.

He spread the word among
some friends, and invited them
to witness the feat, not hesitating to suggest that they get out of their comfortable beds at four a. m.

Each dragged forth a weary
foot after a late Saturday night,
some having returned from a lodge banquet at two a. m. Down the pike they hurried, and made
their anxious way to the bridge site, not wanting to miss a minute of the interesting proceeding. No one stirred but a weary watchman, and in answer to the Bensalemites' query he informed them they were five hours early.

SAY PHILA. YOUTHS WERE IN THEFT RING

Police Claim Cars Were
Stripped of Accessories
In Bucks County

SIX UNDER ARREST

PHILADELPHIA, May 15—Philadelphia police have smashed what they claim is a ring of youthful auto thieves. It was the plan of the six youths to steal cars in the Frankford section, drive them into Bucks County and then strip them, say the police. A car would then be stolen to haul the loot back into Philadelphia.

Also arrested was a man charged with having sold a pistol to one of the boys. Detectives William Stockman and Frank Lynch, who made the arrests, said the youths were believed to have stolen at least 16
cars, stripping them of tires, radios
and other accessories.

A large amount of loot, including a 1939 Cadillac coupe which was stolen Wednesday—was recovered in an old garage on State road near Longshore street.

There the detectives found, besides the partially stripped car, 10
tires, six radios, a chest of mechanic's tools valued at $250, and a set of golf clubs worth $75. The automobile, which belonged to John Mellott, who lives in an apartment house at M and Bristol streets, was stolen from Cayuga street and Castor avenue.

Brigadier General Thomas O.
Hardin, commanding the India-
China Wing, Air Transport Command, USAAF, of the award of the Soldier's Medal for heroism to Staff Sergeant Dominick C. Spada-cino, of Woodbourne.

Staff Sgt. Spadacino was one of a party of four who, in late September and early October, 1943,
participated in what the citation
described as "a difficult and hazardous trek into the jungle to rescue a survivor of a plane crash."

Sgt. Spadacino, the son of Mr.
and Mrs. A. Spadacino, of Woodbourne, was a TNT loader in civilian life. He is serving at present with an airborne emergency surgical team, in the rugged country between India and Southwest China,
where our Air Transport Command
has blazed a trail of help to China
across the wilderness of North Burma and the "Hump" of the

Navy Accepts Revolutionary Type Cargo Plane

Washington—The Navy announced today it has accepted after trial tests a revolutionary type of stainless steel cargo plane manufactured by the Edward G. Budd Co., of Philadelphia.

The new plane is known as the Conestoga and is a high wing monoplane, 68 feet long with a 100-foot wing spread. It is powered by two Pratt and Whitney engines of 1,200-horsepower each. Cargo capacity of the new plane is 10,400 pounds. Cruising speed is 165 miles per hour.
Flight range, at economical cruising speed with a maximum load is 600 miles. Maximum range is 1,700 miles, and that may be extended to 2,500 miles by use of auxiliary tanks.

Germans Renew Aerial Spy-Raids on England

London—Prodded by the successful Allied Italian offensive and the continued aerial blasting of "west wall" fortifications, the German government renewed aerial spy raids on England and stepped up the jittery invasion propaganda campaign. The Nazi radio warned that invaders might penetrate a long way inland past the concrete Atlantic defenses.
In Germany, neutral military observers expect a parachute attack on Jutland or even Germany itself.

Allies Close Steel Trap on Important Ausente Valley

Naples—Successful in breaching the heavily-defended Gustav line, Allied troops attacking on the Italian front scored a new triumph today by closing a steel trap on the important Ausente Valley west of Castelforte, isolating important German contingents.

Battlefront dispatches following a communique which announced the Gustav line has been breached said that American and French troops of Gen. Mark W. Clark's Fifth Army had sprung the trap in a wide pincipers movement.

While British and Indian troops drove ever deeper a wedge smashed into Nazi positions in the Liri Valley, French forces exploited capture of 2,900 foot high Monte Maio, which dominates the Ausente Valley's eastern rim, by swarming across the five-mile valley floor to seize the important town of Ausonia. This severed the single road leading out of the Ausente Valley's northern end.

Grange At Middletown Hears Miss Pickering

LANGHORNE, May 15—Miss
"Mollie" Pickering, the assistant county home economics representative, gave an informative talk on the preparation of foods for the lockers at the meeting of the Middletown Grange in the Memorial
House, Wednesday evening.

Introduced by Mrs. John Thompson, chairman of the home economics committee, which had charge of the program, Miss Pickering explained how the different kinds of food should be prepared, and told of the types of containers to be used.

All fruit, said Miss Pickering, should have sugar on them before they are placed in the lockers.
Some lockers, she explained, do not have sufficiently low temperatures,
and vegetables placed in them
should receive a brine treatment
first. Corn taken from the lockers, it was said by Miss Pickering,
should be thoroughly thawed before it is cooked.

Following the remarks by Miss Pickering, the members took part in a general discussion.

The very brief business session,
which was attended by 35 persons,
was in charge of the master, Herman Heston. Mrs. John Thompson read a short article on the founder of Mothers' Day, and Mrs. Samuel Tomlinson read an article relating to victory gardens. The program also included a reading, "The End of a Perfect Day," by Mrs. Arthur Stackhouse.

THE NEW DEAL'S ONE TUNE

The whole issue of New Deal handling of management-labor difficulties has been pointed up by two union defiance of the War Labor Board in the San Francisco area—one by an AFL local, the other by a CIO group. Here, workers in the shipbuilding industry refused to work because of wage disagreements, they refused to wait for WLB adjudication, and they even failed to appear at WLB hearings.

And what does the WLB threaten to do? Why, if the defiance continues, the WLB says it will send the case to the President with the recommendation that he order seizure of the plant.

Seizure of the plant—that is the answer. If the government is defied by the employer, the answer is seizure of the plant. If the defiance comes from a union, the answer is seizure of the plant.

This has been the New Deal's only answer to management-labor problems. And the tragedy is that it has become the legally established formula. Congress itself accepted that formula when it passed the Connally-Smith Act.

The law calls for plant seizure no matter who is responsible for the strike.

The labor laws of the country need to be revised on the common-sense basis of putting management and labor on the footing of equality. There must remain means of punishing the recalcitrant employer. And there must be written into the laws means of punishing the irresponsible employee.

Responsible labor in the United States want no taint of racketeering or irresponsibility. It has achieved that taint, however, almost purely through the blundering of the New Deal government, which has pampered and petted every labor leader in the country, whether he be a legitimate leader of workers, or a completely illegitimate one.

And the proof of this is nowhere seen more forcibly than in the government's sole tune it plays on each and every occasion. Plant seizure.

One of New York's department stores has been demonstrating how easily silk can be produced at home. In its greenhouse annex a woman used an old-fashioned spinning wheel as she spun silk thread from a cocoon, and feminine visitors uttered cries of delight as they visioned opportunities for growing their own pure silk hosiery.

This New York establishment has been offering six small mulberry trees, 150 silk-worm eggs and a pamphlet on sericulture to all interested persons, being careful to suggest that the experiment be started merely as a hobby. One of New York's professional silk growers thinks this effort would be suitable for returned soldiers, especially wounded men who can not do heavy work.

Entomologists admit that a silkworm might thrive on the type of mulberry leaves grown in America, but they hasten to warn that whoever starts silk production in a serious way is almost certain to be disappointed.

ECHOES OF THE PAST

Review of the news as it appeared in the Bucks County Gazette issue dated at Bristol February 15, 1883. The Gazette, a weekly newspaper published in Bristol, was discontinued following its merger with the Courier.

A had lot, composed of men, women, children, horses, mules, bears, cubs and monkeys, invaded Bristol last Thursday. That part belonging to the human race were said to be Arabs. They came from New Jersey and camped at the nursery, below Bristol. On Friday they scattered through town begging from door to door. They were soon ordered to leave, and took up their line of march towards Philadelphia.

The railroad company did a pretty extensive business yesterday in accidents. Five men were killed on the line between Trenton and Philadelphia. One of the men was Thomas Mooney, employed on the gravel train, who was struck by the newspaper line and killed instantly. Of the other four, one was killed at Pierson's, one at Bridesburg, and the others at points not yet reported.

Simon Brooks has been the grave diggers at the Friends' burying ground for over 27 years.

Candidates for borough offices are scarce. It is a case of where the offices seek the men, and not men the offices.

At a recent meeting of the managers of the Bristol Library, Mrs. (Rev.) W. S. Perkins and Mrs. M. B. O. Thomas were elected to fill vacancies in the board.

The workmen of Bristol on Tuesday evening last had a demonstration. It was for the purpose of giving to the members of Congress, particularly those of Pennsylvania, a little timely notice of how the workmen of the country, the bone and sinew of the land, regarded the dilly-dallying process with which the consideration of the tariff revision is treated. The hall was crowded by the employees of Bristol's varied industries, every establishment in town being represented.

The two, who were thrown off, were discovered by Mr. Lukasko, Newtown R. D., who notified Penna. State Police, Corp. Evans and Pvt. Sauer investigated. The motorcycle was a complete wreck. It is stated.

A meeting was held February 11th in Otter street hall for the purpose of organizing a Colored Baptist Church in Bristol, at which Rev. L. G. Beck was moderator, and F. B. Burke, clerk. Sixteen individuals formally accepted the Baptist Manual and were organized into a body to be called the First African Baptist Church. Charles H. Brown was elected clerk, and Elizabeth Washington, treasurer. A council will be held March 8th for the purpose of publicly recognizing this body as a regular Baptist Church, at which time such measures will be taken to secure the peace and property of the colored Baptists in this borough as the circumstances may require.

track that Magill had most of his adventures but, like every other soldier who had close calls and often seemingly hopeless minutes, does not talk about them voluntarily. Only after endless questioning does he even hint that driving through raging battle lines was any more difficult than driving on a crowded city street.

"The food on the firing line is one of the worst features about it to the average soldier," Cpl. Magill stated. "Naturally the usual meal cannot be served and the men have to depend on the packaged rations that they have with them. These emergency rations are all right for a few meals, but if you are forced to stay on the line in a foxhole for several days or, as is some times the case, for a week or more, the emergency ration becomes pretty monotonous. I have heard soldiers griping about the food, which they really didn't mean as a complaint, when they said nothing at all about the particularly vicious fire of the enemy other than, of course, to label it with fancy names."

"When the troops go up to the front line they carry only one change of clothing with them. The remainder of their clothing and other possessions is left in their barrack bags with the rear echelon," explained Cpl. Magill. "When conditions get too 'warm' on the line even that one change is 'forgotten' as being excess baggage. If the people here at home understood some of the difficulties that we have keeping any more than just the necessities with us, they would limit the articles they send to their soldier relatives and friends to such items as food and smokes, very little more."

"During the Tunisia campaign, the organization of the military postoffice was not completed and in consequence mail was rather slow in reaching the troops. Today, however, it is different and soldiers receive mail about every three days on the front lines. There were times when the service was even better than that at Anzio where almost the entire area that we are occupying is the 'firing line'."

Cpl. Magill met several of the men from Doylestown both in Africa and in Italy, among them being his brother, Howard, who is in the infantry. He met him accidentally in Italy and saw him for a few moments only.

One of the incidents casually mentioned by Cpl. Magill occurred in Africa. German airplanes were dropping bombs on the American troops and they were coming uncomfortably close to Magill's half-track. Just after he and his crew decided to leave the machine and take shelter behind a nearby stone wall, a 500-pound bomb struck about 20 yards from the half-track. The concussion was sufficient to topple the entire wall over on the men, but injured none of them. One man, however, had taken shelter in a foxhole and was completely buried by the dirt thrown up from the explosion.

"If we hadn't seen him jump in the hole," said Magill, "he would have been buried alive for he couldn't get out by himself; we had to dig for several minutes before we uncovered him."

steadily in the face of the Eighth Army push deep into the Liri Valley but fought doggedly before yielding any territory.

French troops of the Allied Fifth Army, setting a fast assault pace, exploited their capture of Monte Maio, mid-way along the 20-mile battlefield, and disoriented the Nazi Gustav line defense scheme.

The French pressed forward with infantry and tanks to capture the strategic hill features of San Ambrogio, Valle Maio and Ausonia.

American troops of the Fifth Army commanded by Lieut. Gen. Mark W. Clark also advanced to cut the Ausonia-Fornia Road.

Heavy casualties were reported inflicted on the Germans in the stiff battling and a large number were taken prisoner.

German positions were by-passed at several points and mopping up operations to destroy remaining enemy strongpoints were under way.

Hard fighting was reported in progress over the entire front as the Nazi resisted stubbornly against the forceful Allied blows.

The advance of the Eighth Army was bitterly contested by the Germans.

The Eighth put great numbers of tanks across the Rapido river to the bridgehead which has been pushed to a mile in depth as the Britons slowly but systematically hit the network of Nazi defenses.

New bridges were thrown up across the waterway despite heavy German gunfire. Concentrated fire from 30 guns was directed against one of the bridges by the enemy.

The British advanced south of San Angelo which had been cleared by Gurkhas but rubble strewn in the path of the advancing force made the going tough for tanks.

At several points Nazi troops resisted the advance from cellars of houses turned into pillboxes.

Carlen-Wink Nuptials Are Solemnized Saturday

EMILIE, May 15 — The Emilie Methodist Church was the setting on Saturday evening for the attractive wedding of Miss Gladys R. Wink, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willis W. Wink, Emilie, and Mr. Elwood M. Carlen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Carlen, Tullytown. The double ring ceremony took place at 7:30, and was performed by the Rev. Samuel Gaskell.

The church was decorated with spring blossoms. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a gown of white orange blossom satin with fitted bodice, sweetheart neckline, full-length sleeves and short train. A finger-tip veil fell from a head-piece of orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of white snapdragons, roses and baby breath, with a white orchid in the center.

Miss Martha Praul served as maid of honor. She was gowned in pink faille and net with fitted bodice, sweetheart neckline and short puffed sleeves. She wore a tiara of flowers and a short veil of the same shade as her gown as a head-piece. Pale yellow snapdragons, light blue delphinium and baby breath formed her bouquet.

The bridesmaids were Mrs. G. Raymond Hibbs, Bristol, and Miss Evelyn Groner, Bensalem Township. They wore gowns of the same style and material as that of the maid of honor but in aqua blue. The bouquets of the bridesmaids were composed of pink snapdragons. The bride and her attendants wore single strands of pearls.

Little Violet Killian, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Killian, Edgely, served as flower girl. She wore a long blue gown of faille, a poke bonnet, and carried a basket of pink roses.

Mr. Oscar Schrieber, Cornwells Heights, served the groom as best man, and Mr. G. Raymond Hibbs, Bristol, a cousin of the bride, and Mr. Edwin Driver, Tullytown, were the ushers.

The bride's aunt, Mrs. George Hibbs, played the wedding march. The soloist, Miss Dorothy Gaskell, Tullytown, favored with "The Sweetest Story Ever Told," "Because," and "O Promise Me," before the ceremony; and during the ceremony as the bride couple were kneeling she sang a verse of "Saviour Like A Shepherd Lead Us."

The bride's mother wore a blue print gown and hat of the same shade of blue. The groom's mother was attired in a navy blue costume. Both wore corsages.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the social room of the church for the bridal party and immediate families.

The couple will spend a few days

in New York City and will reside at their newly-furnished home on Mill Creek Road.

Both the bride and the groom graduated from Bristol high school. The bride is employed by Fleetwings, Division of Kaiser Cargo, Inc., and the groom is employed by the U. S. Army Air Force stationed at Fleetwings.

The maid of honor's gift from the bride was a string of pearls and the bridesmaids received iridescent necklaces and bracelets. The bride's gift to the flower girl was a gold heart-shaped locket. The groom gave his attendants tie clasps. The groom's gift to the bride was a pearl necklace and the bride's gift to the groom a cameo tie clasp.

Almighty God, our Heavenly Father, we pray thy blessing upon the mothers of our land. There is a tremendous task in this day of war, when so many homes are divided because of military requirements and industrial conditions. Grant, O Father, that the children of the homes will not be neglected, but that they might be trained in the nurture and admonition of the Lord and inspired to serve thee sincerely and effectively. Save us from neglect of this highest responsibility, through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

"CRASH DIVE!"

Deep in a submarine, the Commander, his eye glued to the periscope, issues battle orders to the crew. He speaks over a strange telephone—a telephone that is powered by the very voice it transmits.

The "voice-operated" telephone is one of many items of communications equipment, used by our armed forces, which have been developed by the Bell Telephone Laboratories and produced by Western Electric, manufacturing branch of the Bell System.

Practically all the productive capacity of the Western Electric plants, greatly expanded since

Pearl Harbor, is being used to meet the needs of the Army and Navy.

Production of telephone facilities for everyday civilian needs has all but ceased. The "margins" built into our plant have been virtually wiped out. It is no longer possible to meet requests for service without long delays.

We are keenly aware of the very real inconveniences of those who are on "waiting lists" for service. But we know they'll agree that telephone equipment cannot be produced for the home front so long as it is needed on the battle front.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

these investigations was a notable indication of popular feeling and affords a good reason for the President's desire to put the case under the head of "finished business." It was further evidence of the degree to which he has lost control of a Congress in which his party has a clear majority.

IT SHOULD, in fact, be more than that. It should be an additional and particularly clear warning of the condition certain to exist if the present effort to secure a fourth term succeeds. In that event, all most everyone, except the professional Democratic spokesmen, concede that Mr. Roosevelt would have a Congress far more hostile than now—a Congress in which the Republicans would control the House and the Republicans and anti-New Deal Democrats the Senate. What that means, of course, is a practical breakdown of the Government. Both President and Congress would be reduced to futility and the terribly serious post-war problems, upon the proper solution of which the welfare of all of us depends, would be botched, bungled and evaded. It is a prospect no thoughtful person can contemplate without apprehension.

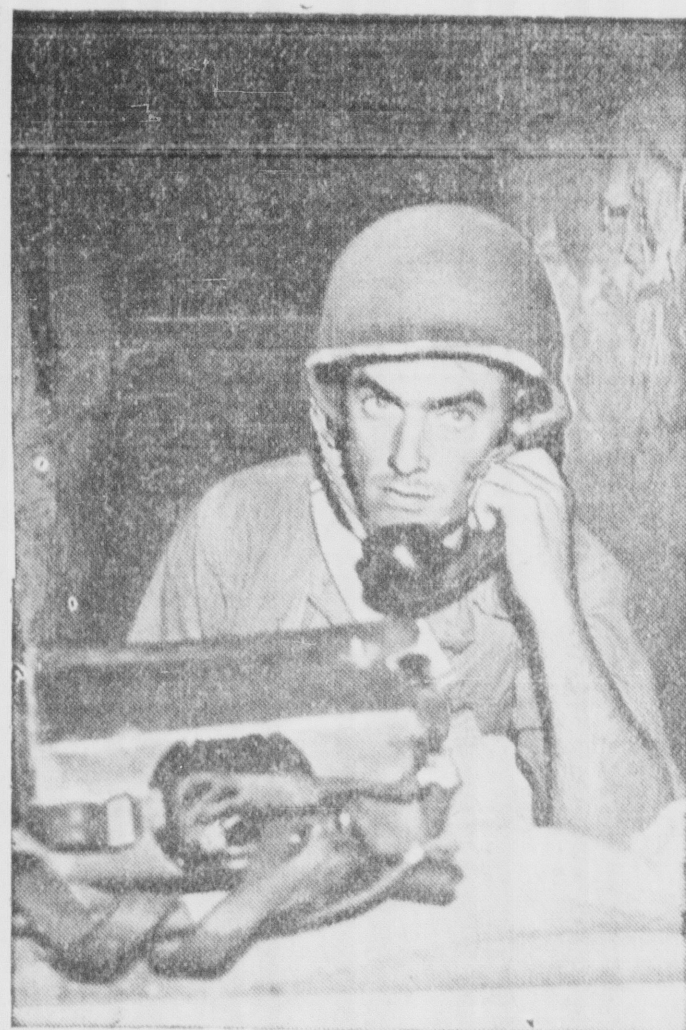

YET, IT is impossible to deny the prospect exists. The various refusals of this Congress to support Administration measures and the frequency with which it has overridden Presidential vetoes supply convincing evidence. The facts were plain before the Ward investigations were voted. Those votes merely made them plainer. The Ward seizure was ordered by the President, directed by his Attorney General, and was completely an Administration affair. The move to investigate was a move indicating approval of the order and an unwillingness to support either him or it. The resolutions were introduced by anti-New Dealers—Senator Harry F. Byrd, of Virginia, in the Senate; Representative Dewey, of Illinois, a Republican, in the House.

IT IS unfortunate the investigation is not to be made by one committee instead of two. It seems silly to have House and Senate committees in such a matter and it is to be hoped some way will be found to co-ordinate the two. Otherwise, it is difficult to see how a nullifying confusion can be avoided. However, this has nothing to do with the point that the House and Senate action is another demonstration of Presidential inability to control Congress and a warning of even less ability to control the next Congress should Mr. Roosevelt be re-elected. Everyone is glad he has returned from his month's vacation restored to health. It would be a fine thing, indeed, if, now, thinking aside those who have a personal interest in keeping him in the White House indefinitely and are constantly telling him that, for the sake of the nation, he must run again, Mr. Roosevelt would face fully the facts and grasp the situation in which he and the nation will find themselves if he is again elected.

BUT, THERE IS slight chance he will do that. His personally selected National Committee Chairman has already announced that he will be nominated. Others—CIO labor leaders, New Deal Senators, jobholders, recipients of Presidential favors in one form or another, left-wing publications and publicists—all are clamoring for the fourth term. The trouble about the President is that he seems not to have a single detached, disinterested, independent friend able or willing to sit down with him and tell him the truth. Practically all his intimates and advisers are in his Administration. Most of them are dependents. Not one would risk his displeasure by telling him the reasons he shouldn't run. This is a handicap nearly all Presidents have had, but there was never one as badly handicapped this way as Mr. Roosevelt. He hasn't had a "no" man near him since the late Louis Howe died.

GAME CALLED OFF DUE TO WET GROUNDS

The Rohm and Haas-Fleetwings game scheduled for yesterday afternoon was called off because of wet grounds.

Both teams will be in action again tonight with Fleetwings entertaining American Steel on the high school field and Rohm and Haas meeting the Case Packers on Wetzel's field, Trenton.

Fleetwings will also play tomorrow night, clashing with the Prison Officers at Trenton while on the Maple Beach diamond Wednesday night, Rohm and Haas will return home to meet the Prison Officers.

It is most likely that Lonny Heister will be on the hill for the Fleetwings tonight with Vince Stratton behind the plate. This game is scheduled to begin at 6:15 o'clock sharp.

occupied country to be taken over by the U. S. and Great Britain.
Capt. Cressman was born in Sellersville and educated in Sellersville schools, having graduated from Sellersville high school in 1925. He attended the University of Pennsylvania, where he took up finances at the Wharton School. He also took a reserve officers' training course in the army while there and that was what led him to take up active service before the U. S. became involved in this war.

For several years the Sellersville man remained at Philadelphia in army finance, having left his position with an aircraft company at Pottstown to enter the service. He held a key position at that plant.

He is now one of General Eisenhower's "little boys," wrote Alvin's wife to her father-in-law, having given his address, which consists of a long string of initials.
Capt. Cressman wrote to his wife to tell her that he will probably be on regular duty in an occupied country, but that will undoubtedly miss the "fun of the invasion," but expects to be in the final show. He now wears the invasion symbol on his shoulder, consisting of a flaming sword on a field of sable black—symbolizing avenging justice by which the yoke of the enemy's power is to be broken in the invasion of Europe. The same symbol has been employed for centuries since the crusades, as an emblem of righteousness.

At the age of 36, Capt. Cressman attained one of the important key positions on the fiscal staff of General Eisenhower, who no doubt would be coveted by older men in the service of the U. S. Army. From high school, Capt. Cressman showed great talent for mathematics and the time he was in grades and civil affairs.

The committee has secured the services of the popular tenor soloist of the Holy Trinity Episcopal Church in Philadelphia, Arthur C. Abbott, who will render several selections.

The outstanding attraction of this meeting will be the guest speaker of the evening, the Rev. Leon T. Moore, District Superintendent of the South District of the Philadelphia Conference. Rev. Moore is one of the most forceful speakers in Methodism. He is also prominent in many fraternal circles and is in great demand as an after-dinner speaker. His topic for the evening will be "Our Allegiance to Methodism."

In addition to these many attractions the well-known song leader, "Ray Lyons," will conduct a song service, both afternoon and evening. The Youth Choir of the Yardley Methodist Church will bring special music in the evening. An instructive and inspirational time is promised to all who attend.

ON THE SCREENS

In the film now playing at the Grand Theatre, one of the characters explains the title as "Any guy who is a right guy, is a guy named Joe," and all the men in the American Air Force glorified in the movie, "A Guy Named Joe," are right guys. The film pivots around the old superstition that "pilots never die."

"A Guy Named Joe" is the story of our airmen, their loves and cares and brings to the screen one of the most heartwarming romances ever filmed. Pete Sandidge, played by Spencer Tracy, is a reckless and daredevil pilot. His work is characterized by a disregard for his own safety, much to the despair of his superior officers and to Dorinda Durston, played by Miss Dunne, a Ferry Command pilot, who loves him desperately.

RITZ THEATRE

The screen world is watching with more than passing interest Columbia Studios during experiment with the first of what promises to be a new cycle—a motion picture dealing with the post-war world.

This company's excursion into the future, "None Shall Escape," now showing at the Bristol Theatre, is the story of the post-war trial of Nazi leaders, and in particular the international tribunal which sits in judgment on Wilhelm Grimm.

RITZ THEATRE

The Fighting French are on the march in a stirring story of a group of French soldiers who carried on the fight against Germany from the depths of a Nazi prison camp. ALLIES SMASH WIDE GAP INTO FORTIFIED LINE EXTENDING FROM TYRRHENIAN SEA COAST TO CASSINO

Crushing of Gustav Line Enables Eighth Army Forces
To Penetrate Deep Into the Liri Valley —
Heavy Fighting is Expected

By James L. Kilgallen
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent
NAPLES, May 15—(INS)—Allied
armies in Italy today breached the formidable Nazi Gustav defense
line.

The Allies smashed a wide gap
into the fortified line extending
from the Tyrrhenian sea coast
northeastward to Cassino after
some 72 hours of the heaviest offensive onslaughts in the Italian campaign.

The crushing of the Gustav line
enabled the Eighth Army Forces,
which crossed the Rapido River on
a wide front and slashed at the Germans with mechanized formations, to penetrate deep into the Liri Valley.

Heavy fighting was expected to
flare in the Liri Valley when the Germans attempt to stem the Allied
onslaught in an effort to gain time
for the main Nazi forces to solidify
themselves in the Adolf Hitler line
to the rear of the broken Gustav defenses.

Whether the troops of Nazi field marshal Albert Kesselring can
bring up hurried reinforcements
into the Liri Valley was problematical in view of crippling Allied
aerial blows against enemy communications, including the smashing of the Aviano river viaduct over which traffic through the Brenner
Pass must move.

The swift breaching of the Gustav Line attested to the formidable preparations undertaken by the

Washington, May 13.
CERTAINLY Mr.
Roosevelt did not
enhance his reputation for candor
and accuracy at
his first press conference following
his return from the South by his statements concerning the Montgomery
seizure. It was a singular performance, which left
most of those who listened amazed
at the line he chose to take. Only
the fact that it is not possible to
contradict or argue with the President at these conferences kept them
quiet. But it wasn't acquiescence,
it was restraint.

NO ONE can blame the President
for wanting to escape the consequences of the mistakes made in
his name by Attorney General Bid-
dle, but the method he adopted,

though used before, hardly would commend itself to fair-minded men.
First, he charged the press and
radio had not given the people the
facts, though he was unable to
point out any fact that had not
been given, or to give any fact,
himself, that had not already been printed. Nevertheless, he then bithely proceeded to supply the
press with information about the
case that almost immediately
turned out to be incorrect. For example, he declared the case had
been settled by the results of the employees' election.

THIS WAS far from the fact and
was at once denied by the company, which asserted it will not accept a contract containing the
closed-shop clause which the union
is demanding. And it was also
denied by members of Congress, who insisted the investigations,
which each branch had ordered,
would be continued. Actually, the

BUCKS COUNTY MAN GOES TO PAL'S AID

Cpl. Richard Magill Sees
Man Completely Buried
By Concussion

JOBS ARE HAZARDOUS

MECHANICSVILLE, May 15—
When the soldiers on the battle
front think that they have been
there long enough, they do not hesitate to say so to every one within
hearing, according to Cpl. Richard Magill, Army Armored Command,
who recently returned to this country after 23 months of active service in Africa and Italy.

Cpl. Magill has been assigned to Fort Knox, Ky., where he probably
will be detailed as an instructor
of half-track and tank manipulation.

During the attack and the establishment of the Anzio beachhead,
from which he came almost directly
to this country, as well as in the Tunisia campaign, Cpl. Magill was driving a half-track equipped with his usual anti-aircraft gun and a number of "personnel" guns, these
latter being intended for use
against foot or horse-mounted enemies. Incidentally, according to Cpl. Magill, a half-track is a combination of an armored truck, a
light tank, an artillery field-piece
and a battery of machine guns.

It was while driving the half-track that Cpl. Magill was injured.

Prominent Executive Moves To Bucks County

IVYLAND, May 15—The former sales manager of the Allentown-Bethlehem Gas Co., J. Ward Crankshaw, and his wife, residents of Allentown for 32 years, have moved to a farm near here.

Mr. Crankshaw, widely known businessman, Rotarian, civic leader, horseman and dog fancier, retired in June, 1942, as sales manager of the Allentown-Bethlehem Gas Co.
after more than 35 years of service with that organization.

About a year before that he had been seriously injured when thrown from a horse-drawn cart, and his decision to move to Ivyland followed the recommendation of his physician that he spend more time in rural surroundings.

Summer Meetings Are Planned By Businessmen

SOUTHLANGHORNE, May 15—A brief session of Associated Business Men of South Langhorne was held at Flannery's Restaurant last week.

Secretary-Treasurer Ernst Hei-zmann reported a balance of $115.93 in the treasury. It was voted to set aside $75 for "Victory Day," for use in post-war activities attending the home-coming of the boys in the service.

President Jacob Weller, who presided, said there had been no recent meeting of the Presidents' Round Table to further discuss the
P. T. C. fare matter.

As in previous years, the summer meetings are to be held at the cabin of President Weller, at Oak-ford. The June session will be held on Wednesday, the 13th, with summer sports as a feature. President Weller and Secretary-Treasurer Heizmann will be the hospitality committee for the occasion.

Bensalem's Early Birds

(By "The Stroller")

Three Andalusia men and two from Cornwells Heights
had an "outing" yesterday.

It was an early outing, particularly for a Sunday morning.

It appears that one of the
quintet had been informed on
"good authority" (it was later
learned that he secured his information from barber shop
conversation), that the railroad
bridge which crosses Grant
avenue, in Philadelphia county,
was to be replaced — the old
bridge to be removed and a new
one already built to be pushed
in place — at the hour of five
yesterday morning.

He spread the word among
some friends, and invited them
to witness the feat, not hesitating to suggest that they get out
of their comfortable beds at
four a. m.

Each dragged forth a weary
foot after a late Saturday night,
some having returned from a
lodge banquet at two a. m. Down
the pike they hurried, and made
their anxious way to the bridge site, not wanting to miss a minute of the interesting proceeding. No one stirred but a weary
watchman, and in answer to
the Bensalemites' query he informed them they were five
hours early.

The Rev. Dr. W. Sherman Skinner, co-pastor of the First Presby-

"Everything is Ready" dealt with the many opportunities for service in the world today.

A graduate of Bensalem high school, Miss LaRue majored in home economics in college. She was a member of the College Y. W. C. A. for four years. In her junior and senior years she acted as advisor

SAY PHILA. YOUTHS WERE IN THEFT RING

Police Claim Cars Were
Stripped of Accessories
In Bucks County

SIX UNDER ARREST

PHILADELPHIA, May 15—Philadelphia police have smashed what
they claim is a ring of youthful auto thieves. It was the plan of the six youths to steal cars in the Frankford section, drive them into
Bucks County and then strip them of their contents. A car would then be stolen to haul the loot back into Philadelphia.

Also arrested was a man charged
with having sold a pistol to one of the boys. Detectives William Stockman and Frank Lynch, who made
the arrests, said the youths were
believed to have stolen at least 16
cars, stripping them of tires, radios
and other accessories.

A large amount of loot, including a $2999 Cadillac coupe which was stolen Wednesday—was recovered in an old garage on State road near Longshore street.

There the detectives found, besides the partially stripped car, 10
tires, six radios, a chest of me-
chanic's tools valued at $250, and a set of golf clubs worth $75.

The automobile, which belonged to John Mellett, who lives in an apartment
house at M and Bristol streets, was stolen from Cayuga street and Castor avenue.

Brigadier General Thomas O.
Hardin, commanding the India-
China Wing, Air Transport Com-

Soldier's Medal for heroism to
Staff Sergeant Dominick C. Spada-

Staff Sgt. Spadacino was one of a party of four who, in late September and early October, 1943,
participated in what the citation
described as "a difficult and hazardous trek into the jungle to rescue a survivor of a plane crash."

Sgt. Spadacino, the son of Mr.
and Mrs. A. Spadacino, of Wood-
bourne, was a TNT loader in civilian life. He is serving at present
with an airborne emergency surgical team, in the rugged country between India and Southwest China,
where our Air Transport Command
has blazed a trail of help to China
across the wilderness of North
Burma and the "Hump" of the

Navy Accepts Revolutionary Type Cargo Plane

Washington—The Navy announced today it has accepted after trial
tests a revolutionary type of stainless steel cargo plane manufactured
by the Edward G. Budd Co. of Philadelphia.

The new plane is known as the Conestoga and is a high wing monoplane, 68 feet long with a 100-foot wing spread. It is powered by two Pratt and Whitney engines of 1,200-horsepower each. Cargo capacity of the new plane is 10,000 pounds. Cruising speed is 165 miles per hour.
Flight range, at economical cruising speed with a maximum load is 600 miles. Maximum range is 1,700 miles, and that may be extended to 2,000 miles by use of auxiliary tanks.

Germans Renew Aerial Spy Raids on England

London—Prodded by the successful Allied Italian offensive and the continued aerial blasting of "westward" fortifications, the German government renewed aerial spy raids on England and stepped up the jittery invasion propaganda campaign. The Nazi radio warned that invaders might penetrate a long way inland past the concrete Atlantic defenses.
In Germany, neutral military observers expect a parachute attack on Jutland or even Germany itself.

Allies Close Steel Trap on Important Ausente Valley

Naples—Successful in breaching the heavily-defended Gustav Line, Allied troops attacking on the Italian front scored a new triumph today
by closing a steel trap on the important Ausente Valley west of Castelforte, isolating important German contingents.

Battlefront dispatches following a communique which announced
the Gustav Line has been breached said that American and French troops of Gen. Mark W. Clark's Fifth Army had sprung the trap in a wide pinners movement.

While British and Indian troops drove ever deeper a wedge smashed into Nazi positions in the Liri Valley, French forces exploited capture of 2,900 foot high Monte Maio, which dominates the Ausente Valley's eastern rim, by swarming across the five-mile valley floor to seize the important town of Ansonia. This severed the single road leading out of the Ausente Valley's northern end.

Grange At Middletown Hears Miss Pickering

LANGHORNE, May 15—Miss
"Mollie" Pickering, the assistant county home economics representative, gave an informative talk on the preparation of foods for the lockers at the meeting of the Middletown Grange in the Memorial
House, Wednesday evening.

Introduced by Mrs. John Thompson, chairman of the home economics committee, which had charge of the program, Miss Pickering explained how the different kinds of
food should be prepared, and told
of the types of containers to be
used.

All fruit, said Miss Pickering,
should have sugar on them before
they are placed in the lockers.
Some lockers, she explained, do not
have sufficiently low temperatures,
and vegetables placed in them
should receive a brine treatment
first. Corn taken from the lockers,
it was said by Miss Pickering,
should be thoroughly thawed before it is cooked.

Following the remarks by Miss
Pickering, the members took part
in a general discussion.

The very brief business session,
which was attended by 35 persons,
was in charge of the master, Her-

THE NEW DEAL'S ONE TUNE

The whole issue of New Deal handling of management-labor difficulties has been pointed up by two union defiance of the War Labor Board in the San Francisco area—one by an AFL local, the other by a CIO group. Here, workers in the shipbuilding industry refused to work because of wage disagreements, they refused to wait for WLB adjudication, and they even failed to appear at WLB hearings.

And what does the WLB threaten to do? Why, if the defiance continues, the WLB says it will send the case to the President with the recommendation that he order seizure of the plant.

Seizure of the plant—that is the answer. If the government is defied by the employer, the answer is seizure of the plant. If the answer is seizure of the plant, the answer is seizure of the plant.

This has been the New Deal's only answer to management-labor problems. And the tragedy is that it has become the legally established formula. Congress itself accepted that formula when it passed the Connally-Smith Act.

The labor laws of the country need to be revised on the common-sense basis of putting management and labor on the footing of equality. There must remain means of punishing the recalcitrant employer. And there must be written into the laws means of punishing the irresponsible employee.

Responsible labor in the United States want no taint of racketeering or irresponsibility. It has achieved that taint, however, almost purely through the blundering of the New Deal government, which has pampered and petted every labor leader in the country, whether he be a legitimate leader of workers, or a completely illegitimate one.

And the proof of this is nowhere seen more forcibly than in the government's sole tune it plays on each and every occasion. Plant seizure.

One of New York's department stores has been demonstrating how easily silk can be produced at home. In its greenhouse annex a woman used an old-fashioned spinning wheel as she spun silk thread from a cocoon, and feminine visitors uttered cries of delight as they visioned opportunities for growing their own pure silk hosiery.

This New York establishment has been offering six small mulberry trees, 150 silk-worm eggs and a pamphlet on sericulture to all interested persons, being careful to suggest that the experiment be started merely as a hobby. One of New York's professional silk growers thinks this effort would be suitable for returned soldiers, especially wounded men who can not do heavy work.

Entomologists admit that a silkworm might thrive on the type of mulberry leaves grown in America, but they hasten to warn that whoever starts silk production in a serious way is almost certain to be disappointed.

ECHOES OF THE PAST

Review of the news as it appeared in the Bucks County Gazette issue dated at Bristol February 15, 1893. The Gazette, a weekly newspaper published in Bristol, was discontinued following its merger with the Courier.

A bad lot, composed of men, women, children, horses, mules, bears, cubs and monkeys, invaded Bristol last Thursday. That part belonging to the human race were said to be Arabs. They came from New Jersey and camped at the nursery, below Bristol. On Friday they scattered through town begging from door to door. They were soon ordered to leave, and took up their line of march towards Philadelphia.

The railroad company did a pretty extensive business yesterday in accidents. Five men were killed on the line between Trenton and Philadelphia. One of the men was Thomas Mooney, employed on the gravel train, who was struck by the newspaper line and killed instantly. Of the other four, one was killed at Pipersville, one at Bridesburg, and the others at points not yet reported.

Simon Brooks has been the grave digger at the Friends' burying ground for over 27 years.

Candidates for borough offices are scarce. It is a case of where the offices seek the men, and not men the offices.

At a recent meeting of the managers of the Bristol Library, Mrs. (Rev.) W. S. Perkins and Mrs. M. B. O. Thomas were elected to fill vacancies in the board.

The workmen of Bristol on Tuesday evening last had a demonstration. It was for the purpose of giving to the members of Congress, particularly those of Pennsylvania, a little timely notice of how the workmen of the country, the bone and sinew of the land, regarded the dilly-dallying process with which the consideration of the tariff revision is treated. The hall was crowded by the employees of Bristol's varied industries, every establishment in town being represented.

As they travelled east on the super-highway at 12:05 this morning, the motorcycle crashed into a cinder bank at the dead-end just to the east of the borough. The two, who were thrown off, were discovered by Mr. Lukasko, Newtown R. D., who notified Penna. State Police.

Corp. Evans and Pvt. Sauer investigated. The motorcycle was a complete wreck, it is stated.

The injured were taken to Nazareth Hospital, Phila., in ambulance of Bucks County Rescue Squad. Crofton. Miss Williams remains there for treatment, and Cancilla was discharged after his injuries were attended to.

Sixteen individuals formally accepted the Baptist Manual and were organized into a body to be called the First African Baptist Church. Charles H. Brown was elected clerk, and Elizabeth Washington, treasurer. attached to the 4th detective division. Paul and Ruan streets, said the ring's method was to steal a car in Frankford, drive it up into Bucks county and strip it, then steal another car to haul the loot back. They were unable to estimate how much stuff was sold, but believed the amount was considerable.

They surprised an 18-year-old boy stripping the chromium wheel rims off a car parked outside a Frankford defense plant. They took him to the station house where he gave his name as Ralph Gillespie, Homestead and Milnor streets. He implicated five confederates. At his home the detectives said they found a .32-calibre pistol which Gillespie told them he bought for $2.

At a hearing before Magistrate John C. Morlock at the Paul and Ruan streets station yesterday morning, Gillespie and Richard Weiss, 19, of Tulip street near Levick, were held on charges of larceny of automobiles and burglary. Morlock fixed bail at $500 each.

Also held in $500 bail was Thomas McKay, 29, of Lardner's Point, who was charged with selling the pistol to Gillespie in violation of the Witkin firearms act.

The four other boys, being under 18, were turned over to the Juvenile Court. They were identified as Stanley McPherson, 16, Glenloch street near Princeton; Frank Polk, 17, Torresdale avenue near Benner street; John Morgan, Jr., Tulip street near Levick, and Edward Crane, 16, State Road, near Van Kirk street.

Allies Smash Wide Gap Into Fortified Line

Allies in the past six weeks to regroup the fifth and eighth armies for the grand-slam assault which is aimed at crushing the German armies in Italy.

The Germans dropped back

steadily in the face of the Eighth Army push deep into the Liri Valley but fought doggedly before yielding any territory.

French troops of the Allied Fifth Army, setting a fast assault pace, exploited their capture of Monte Maio, mid-way along the 20-mile battlefield, and disoriented the Nazi Gustav line defense scheme.

The French pressed forward with infantry and tanks to capture the strategic hill features of San Ambrogio, Valle Maio and Ausonia. American troops of the Fifth Army commanded by Lieut. Gen. Mark W. Clark also advanced to cut the Ausonia-Fornia Road.

Heavy casualties were reported inflicted on the Germans in the stiff battling and a large number were taken prisoner.

German positions were by-passed at several points and mopping up operations to destroy remaining enemy strongpoints were under way.

Hard fighting was reported in progress over the entire front as the Nazi resisted stubbornly against the forceful Allied blows.

The advance of the Eighth Army was bitterly contested by the Germans.

The Eighth put great numbers of tanks across the Rapido river to the bridgehead which has been pushed to a mile in depth as the Britons slowly but systematically hit the network of Nazi defenses.

New bridges were thrown up across the waterway despite heavy German gunfire. Concentrated fire from 30 guns was directed against one of the bridges by the enemy.

The British advanced south of San Angelo which had been cleared by Gurkas but rubble strewn in the path of the advancing force made the going tough for tanks.

At several points Nazi troops resisted the advance from cellars of houses turned into pillboxes.

track that Magill had most of his adventures but, like every other soldier who had close calls and often seemingly hopeless minutes, does not talk about them voluntarily. Only after endless questioning does he even hint that driving through raging battle lines was any more difficult than driving on a crowded city street.

"The food on the firing line is one of the worst features about it to the average soldier," Cpl. Magill stated. "Naturally the usual meal cannot be served and the men have to depend on the packaged rations that they have with them. These emergency rations are all right for a few meals, but if you are forced to stay on the line in a foxhole for several days or, as is some times the case, for a week or more, the emergency ration becomes pretty monotonous. I have heard soldiers griping about the food, which they really didn't mean as a complaint, when they said nothing at all about the particularly vicious fire of the enemy other than, of course, to label it with fancy names.

"When the troops go up to the front line they carry only one change of clothing with them. The remainder of their clothing and other possessions is left in their barracks bags with the rear echelon," explained Cpl. Magill. "When conditions get too 'warm' on the line even that one change is 'forgotten' as being excess baggage. If the people here at home understood some of the difficulties that we have keeping any more than just the necessities with us, they would limit the articles they send to their soldier relatives and friends to such items as food and smokes, very little more.

"During the Tunisia campaign, the organization of the military postoffice was not completed and in consequence mail was rather slow in reaching the troops. Today, however, it is different and soldiers receive mail about every three days on the front lines. There were times when the service was even better than that at Anzio where almost the entire area that we are occupying is the 'firing line'."

Cpl. Magill met several of the men from Doylestown both in Africa and in Italy, among them being his brother, Howard, who is in the infantry. He met him accidentally in Italy and saw him for a few moments only.

One of the incidents casually mentioned by Cpl. Magill occurred in Africa. German airplanes were dropping bombs on the American troops and they were coming uncomfortably close to Magill's half-track. Just after he and his crew decided to leave the machine and take shelter behind a nearby stone wall, a 500-pound bomb struck about 20 yards from the half-track. The concussion was sufficient to topple the entire wall over on the men, but injured none of them. One man, however, had taken shelter in a foxhole and was completely buried by the dirt thrown up from the explosion.

EMILIE, May 15 — The Emilie Methodist Church was the setting on Saturday evening for the attractive wedding of Miss Gladys R. Wink, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willis W. Wink, Emilie, and Mr. Elwood M. Carlen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Carlen, Tullytown. The double ring ceremony took place at 7.30, and was performed by the Rev. Samuel Gaskell.

The church was decorated with spring blossoms.

The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a gown of white orange blossom satin with fitted bodice, sweetheart neckline, full-length sleeves and short train. A finger-tip veil fell from a head-piece of orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of white snapdragons, roses and baby breath, with a white orchid in the center.

Miss Martha Paul served as maid of honor. She was gowned in pink faille and net with fitted bodice, sweetheart neckline and short puffed sleeves. She wore a tiara of flowers and a short veil of the same shade as her gown as a head-piece. Pale yellow snapdragons, light blue delphinium and baby breath formed her bouquet.

The bridesmaids were Mrs. G. Raymond Hibbs, Bristol, and Miss Evelyn Groner, Bensalem Township. They wore gowns of the same style and material as that of the maid of honor but in aqua blue. The bouquets of the bridesmaids were composed of pink snapdragons. The bride and her attendants wore single strands of pearls.

Little Violet Killian, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Killian, Edgely, served as flower girl. She wore a long blue gown of faille, a poke bonnet, and carried a basket of pink roses.

Mr. Oscar Schrieber, Cornwells Heights, served the groom as best man, and Mr. G. Raymond Hibbs, Bristol, a cousin of the bride, and Mr. Edwin Driver, Tullytown, were the ushers.

The bride's aunt, Mrs. George Hibbs, played the wedding march. The soloist, Miss Dorothy Gaskell, Tullytown, favored with "The Sweetest Story Ever Told," "Because," and "O Promise Me," before the ceremony; and during the ceremony as the bridal couple were kneeling she sang a verse of "Saviour Like A Shepherd Lead Us."

The bride's mother wore a blue print gown and hat of the same shade of blue. The groom's mother was attired in a navy blue costume. Both wore corsages.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the social room of the church for the bridal party and immediate families.

The couple will spend a few days

in New York City and will reside at their newly-furnished home on Mill Creek Road.

Both the bride and the groom graduated from Bristol high school. The bride is employed by Fleetwings, Division of Kaiser Cargo, Inc., and the groom is employed by the U. S. Army Air Force stationed at Fleetwings.

The maid of honor's gift from the bride was a string of pearls and the bridesmaids received iridescent necklaces and bracelets. The bride's gift to the flower girl was a gold heart-shaped locket. The groom gave his attendants tie clasps. The groom's gift to the bride was a pearl necklace and the bride's gift to the groom a cameo tie clasp.

"CRASH DIVE!"

Deep in a submarine, the Commander, his eye glued to the periscope, issues battle orders to the crew. He speaks over a strange telephone—a telephone that is powered by the very voice it transmits.

The "voice-operated" telephone is one of many items of communications equipment, used by our armed forces, which have been developed by the Bell Telephone Laboratories and produced by Western Electric, manufacturing branch of the Bell System.

Practically all the productive capacity of the Western Electric plants, greatly expanded since

Pearl Harbor, is being used to meet the needs of the Army and Navy.

Production of telephone facilities for everyday civilian needs has all but ceased. The "margins" built into our plant have been virtually wiped out. It is no longer possible to meet requests for service without long delays.

We are keenly aware of the very real inconveniences of those who are on "waiting lists" for service. But we know they'll agree that telephone equipment cannot be produced for the home front so long as it is needed on the battle front.

Almighty God, our Heavenly Father, we pray thy blessing upon the mothers of our land. There is a tremendous task in this day of war, when so many homes are divided because of military requirements and industrial conditions. Grant, O Father, that the children of the homes will not be neglected, but that they might be trained in the nurture and admonition of the Lord and inspired to serve thee sincerely and effectively. Save us from neglect of this highest responsibility, through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

These investigations was a notable indication of popular feeling and affords a good reason for the President's desire to put the case under the head of "finished business." It was further evidence of the degree to which he has lost control of a Congress in which his party has a clear majority.

IT SHOULD, in fact, be more than that. It should be an additional and particularly clear warning of the condition certain to exist if the present effort to secure a fourth term succeeds. In that event, almost everyone, except the professional Democratic spokesmen, concede that Mr. Roosevelt would have a Congress far more hostile than now—a Congress in which the Republicans would control the House and the Senate.

What that means, of course, is a practical breakdown of the Government. Both President and Congress would be reduced to futility and the terribly serious post-war problems, upon the proper solution of which the welfare of all of us depends, would be botched, bungled and evaded. It is a prospect no thoughtful person can contemplate without apprehension.

YET, IT IS impossible to deny the prospect exists. The various refusals of this Congress to support Administration measures and the frequency with which it has overriden Presidential vetoes supply convincing evidence. The facts were plain before the Ward investigations were voted. Those votes merely made them plainer. The Ward seizure was ordered by the President, directed by his Attorney General, and was completely an Administration affair. The move to investigate was a move indicating approval of the order and an unwillingness to support either him or it. The resolutions were introduced by anti-New Dealers—Senator Harry P. Byrd, of Virginia, in the Senate; Representative Dewey, of Illinois, a Republican, in the House.

IT IS unfortunate the investigation is not to be made by one committee instead of two. It seems silly to have House and Senate competing in such a matter and it is to be hoped some way will be found to co-ordinate the two. Otherwise, it is difficult to see how a nullifying confusion can be avoided. However, this has nothing to do with the point that the House and Senate action is another demonstration of Presidential inability to control Congress and a warning of even less ability to control the next Congress should Mr. Roosevelt be re-elected. Everyone is glad he has returned from his month's vacation restored to health. It would be a fine thing, indeed, if now, thrusting aside those who have a personal interest in keeping him in the White House indefinitely and are constantly telling him that, for the sake of the nation, he must run again, Mr. Roosevelt would face fully the facts and grasp the situation in which he and the nation will find themselves if he is again elected.

BUT, THERE IS slight chance he will do that. His personally selected National Committee Chairman has already announced that he will be nominated. Others—CIO labor leaders, New Deal Senators, jobholders, recipients of Presidential favors in one form or another, left-wing publications and publicists—all are clamoring for the fourth term. The trouble about the President is that he seems not to have a single detached, disinterested, independent friend able or willing to sit down with him and tell him the truth. Practically all his intimates and advisers are in his Administration. Most of them are dependents. Not one would risk his displeasure by telling him the reasons he shouldn't run. This is a handicap nearly all Presidents have had, but there was never one as badly handicapped this way as Mr. Roosevelt. He hasn't had a "no" man near him since the late Louis Howe died.

GAME CALLED OFF DUE TO WET GROUNDS

The Rohm and Haas-Fleetwings game scheduled for yesterday afternoon was called off because of wet grounds.

Both teams will be in action again tonight with Fleetwings entertaining American Steel on the high school field and Rohm and Haas meeting the Case Packers on Wetzel's field, Trenton.

Fleetwings will also play tomorrow night, clashing with the Prison Officers at Trenton while on the Maple Beach diamond Wednesday night, Rohm and Haas will return home to meet the Prison Officers.

It is most likely that Lanny Heiser will be on the bill for the Fleetwings tonight with Vince Stratton behind the plate. This game is scheduled to begin at 6:15 o'clock sharp.

Cressman Named To Eisenhower's Staff

occupied country to be taken over by the U. S. and Great Britain.

Capt. Cressman was born in Sellersville and educated in Sellersville schools, having graduated from Sellersville high school in 1926. He attended the University of Pennsylvania, where he took up finances at the Wharton school. He also took a reserve officers' training course in the army while there and that was what led him to take up active service before the U. S. became involved in this war.

For several years the Sellersville man remained at Philadelphia in army finance, having left his position with an aircraft company at Pottstown to enter the service. He held a key position at that plant.

"He is now one of General Eisenhower's 'little boys,'" wrote Alvin's wife to her father-in-law, having given him address, which consists of a long string of initials.

Capt. Cressman wrote to his wife to tell her that he will probably be on regular duty in an occupied country, but that will undoubtedly miss the "fun of the invasion, but expects to be in the final show." He now wears the invasion symbol on his shoulder, consisting of a flaming sword on a field of sable black—symbolizing avenging justice by which the yoke of the enemy's power is to be broken in the invasion of Europe. The same symbol has been employed for centuries since the crusades, as an emblem of righteousness.

At the age of 36, Capt. Cressman attained one of the important key positions on the fiscal staff of General Eisenhower, which no doubt would be coveted by older men in the service of the U. S. Army. From high school, Capt. Cressman showed great talent for mathematics and the time he was in grades and civil affairs.

The committee has secured the services of the popular tenor soloist of the Holy Trinity Episcopal Church in Philadelphia, Arthur C. Abbott, who will render several selections.

The outstanding attraction of this meeting will be the guest speaker of the evening, the Rev. Leon T. Moore, District Superintendent of the South District of the Philadelphia Conference. Rev. Moore is one of the most forceful speakers in Methodism. He is also prominent in many fraternal circles and is in great demand as an after-dinner speaker. His topic for the evening will be "Our Allegiance to Methodism."

In addition to these many attractions, the well-known song leader, "Ray Lyons," will conduct a song service, both afternoon and evening. The Youth Choir of the Yardley Methodist Church will bring special music in the evening. An instructive and inspirational time is promised to all who attend.

In the film now playing at the Grand Theatre, one of the characters explains the title as "Any guy who is a right guy, is a guy named Joe," and all the men in the American Air Force glorified in the movie, "A Guy Named Joe," are right guys. The film pivots around the old superstition that "pilots never die."

"A Guy Named Joe" is the story of our airmen, their loves and cares and brings to the screen one of the most heartwarming romances ever filmed. Pete Sandridge, played by Spencer Tracy, is a reckless and daredevil pilot. His work is characterized by a disregard for his own safety, much to the despair of his superior officers and to Dorinda Durston, played by Miss Dunne, a Ferry Command pilot, who loves him desperately.

BRISTOL THEATRE

The screen world is watching with more than passing interest Columbia Studios daring experiment with the first of what promises to be a new cycle—a motion picture dealing with the post-war world.

This company's excursion into the future, "None Shall Escape," now showing at the Bristol Theatre, is the story of the post-war trial of Nazi leaders, and in particular the international tribunal which sits in judgment on Wilhelm Grimm.

RITZ THEATRE

The Fighting French are on the march in a stirring story of a group of French soldiers who carried on the fight against Germany from the depths of a Nazi prison camp. The all-male cast of the film, "The Cross of Lorraine," which opened yesterday at the Ritz Theatre, is headed by Jean Pierre Aumont, the fighting Frenchman who
